FTR @BenLaBolt is not wrong in saying LBJ was empathetic. It's one of the best explanations for his strong support for civil rights legislation and the Great Society. But even people with empathy do horrible, callous things - in LBJ's case the war in Vietnam.

No doubt! Did I defend his decision to stick it out in Vietnam? No! I saw an image of a president processing and wrestling with the consequences of his decisions which the current President is incapable of. That's all!

NEW: Harvard Institute of Politics survey finds Joe Biden leading Trump 60% to 30% among voters 18-29.

Notably, that's not much different than the 62% to 31% lead Bernie Sanders would have.

At least 40,000 people have now died due to coronavirus complications in the United States. We have reached this number in a stunningly short period of time.

Not sure why it should be stunning This is how exponentia growth works What people need to understand is that with a return to normalcy (and return to higher R) it's not a long path to 1M (40k >80k >160k >320k >640k >1M+)

We spent a lot more time during the Dem primaries talking about the youth vote than the senior vote, but having a nominee who might really have a shot at carrying voters 65+ might be a bigger deal than who can best drive turnout among voters under 30.

He keeps saying the Obama tests were no good but this virus wasn't in existence then.

He sent tons of PPE to China that we needed

Still no explanation as to where 17.8 tons of supplies came from that were sent to China in Feb. If stockpiles were depleted where did all those supplies come from? If they weren't depleted why did Trump send them to China? People died because of no PPE

I'm hoping the #HomeandAway is 12 hours long tonight. Not ready for the show to end. What will fill the void left by Homeland and The Americans?

I'm rewatching it. Fauda could be good but the dub is. Why? Why not subtitles? It's ruined with the English dubbed in

I'm hoping the #HomelandFinale is 12 hours long tonight. Fully not ready for the show to end. What will fill the void left by Homeland and The Americans?

I'm rewatching it. Fauda could be good but the dub it. Why? Why not subtitles? It's ruined with the English dubbed in

Kevin Madden @KevinMaddenDC Apr 26
dude. SAME. I loathe dubbing and would have been able to stick with that show if it used subtitles instead

Big news. Bolsonaro's top ally, the Justice Minister, resigned with serious accusations against Bolsonaro. Between that and his plummeting numbers due to ignoring the coronavirus crisis, Brazil could see its second presidential impeachment in 5 years.

1. you don't know if they all get counted!
2. someone can threaten people if they don't vote for a specific candidate
3. no guarantees of privacy
4. electronic voting machines can be hacked!

Only paper ballots that are hand counted are safe

Breaking: Governor @GavinNewsom says "we are just a few weeks away, not months away, from making meaningful & measurable changes" to #ShelterInPlace & #SocialDistancing restrictions. It's the first time he's put a timeline on the possibility of easing #COVID19 #coronavirus orders

But the Bay Area just extended to May 31

sovernnation @SovernNation · Apr 27

The Bay Area extended to 5/31, but also said it will announce minor easing later this week. Governor said CA is "weeks away" from starting to ease—not from lifting the overall restrictions. So that's not really inconsistent. Bay Area, which sheltered first, will ease first too

And the GOP lawmakers who refuse to demand better "Fire Jared" would be a completely obvious step. They could band together and communicate this privately to Trump. They have the power. Why aren't they using it? Their constituents are just as dead as those in blue states

Accuser claims that Biden harassed her at 2008 event.

Website that breaks story has six on-record sources who say accuser told them of the harassment.

Records show that Biden did not attend the event.

Law&Crime has a full accounting of the Biden campaign's documentary evidence here

The new revelations heavily complicate a story originally reported based on seven original sources, six of whom agreed to go on the record and one of whom did not. Despite the evidence from the Biden campaign, Murry and several of her original corroborating sources maintain that she is telling the truth.

Yup it's emails all over again

Conservatives have manipulated the media into prioritizing "balance" over empirical reality.

Therefore, reporters jump to excessively cover any Biden scandal b/c of how much time they have to spend detailing Trump's myriad, grave failings

Just because someone said or claimed something does not make it news. Investigate it. Verify it. Check secondary sources. Consider the credibility of the original source. Christine O'Donnell claiming something is not news. A tarot card reading is not news either.

If big box retailers have been allowed to stay open, why shouldn't small stores be allowed to have people go inside, provided they limit the number of people at a time, ensure mask wearing, have doors/windows open for air circulation, etc? This seems unfair to small shops cnn.com/2020/05/19/pol …

Reade told CNN that she received a bachelor of arts degree from Antioch University in Seattle under the auspices of a "protected program," personally working with the former president of the school to ensure her identity was protected while she obtained credits for her degree. She also said that she was a visiting professor at the school on and off for five years.

Presented with this, Karen Hamilton, an Antioch University spokesperson, told CNN that "Alexandra McCabe attended but did not graduate from Antioch University. She was never a faculty member. She did provide several hours of administrative work."

An Antioch University official told CNN that such a "protected program" does not exist and never has.

Biden's clearly outpacing Clinton's pace. 4 years ago this week, Clinton & Trump were tied. Clinton was at 39% in polls including Gary Johnson. Today, Biden's up 7. He's at 48%, which Clinton never hit in final 6 months. Much less room for Trump to move up. cnn.com/2020/05/24/pol

Donald Trump as the law and order candidate is ridiculous on its face. He and his businesses were sued 1,450 times. When he wasn't being sued he was filing for bankruptcy or soliciting prostitutes. For messages to be effective, they have to be credible.

One not so minor detail that has largely gone overlooked—since when does the Attorney General have the authority to order the National Guard, Park Police or Secret Service to do anything, let alone fire tear gas, pepper spray & rubber bullets?!?!?

SPOILER ALERT: He doesn't.

A few fun facts
This Governor should worry more about West Virginians than #BarackObama
His state's unemployment rate is greater than 15% & rising
WVA ranked #44 in education & #48 in healthcare

Joe Biden is live right now talking about today's latest job numbers & how we can get our economy back on track.

Donald Trump spoke on the same topic less than 3 hours ago.

@MSNBC took him live for nearly 13 minutes.

They are not taking Biden live.

Simple Q: why not?

The current Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as well as four of his predecessors (Powell, Myers, Mullen, Dempsey), have now criticized Trump's use of military.

If this happened under a Democratic president, Congressional GOP would be up in arms. Now, just silence.

The timing of this decision could not be worse for the Trump administration. It just rolled out two new policies rejecting protections for transgender people under laws that bar discrimination because of sex.

SCOTUS basically just said the administration's theory is dead wrong.

Breaking: With more votes left to count, more Georgia Dems voted in last week's primary than ever. 1,074,766 counted so far, surpassing 2008. This of course does not include all those who were unable to vote because of suppression. But Georgia Dems are fired up. #gapol

Joe Biden's reaction:

"While we celebrate this victory today, we know that our work is not yet done. As president, I look forward to signing into law the Equality Act, protecting the civil rights of LGBTQ+ Americans, and championing equal rights for all Americans. Happy Pride!"

June 15, 2020

Statement by Vice President Joe Biden

Today's Supreme Court decision is a momentous step forward for our country. Before today, in more than half of states, LGBTQ+ people could get married one day and be fired from their job the next day under state law simply because of who they are or who they love. This landmark 6-3 ruling affirms that LGBTQ+ Americans are entitled to equal rights under the law.

The story of our nation is one of a relentless march toward greater justice and greater equality for all people. Fifty years ago this month, the first Pride march took place in New York City as a protest — as a call for liberation. Today, by affirming that sexual orientation and gender identity discrimination are prohibited under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, the Supreme Court has confirmed the simple but profoundly American idea that every human being should be treated with respect and dignity. That everyone should be able to live openly, proudly, as their true selves without fear.

This decision is another step in our march towards equality for all. And while we celebrate this victory today, we know that our work is not yet done. As President, I look forward to signing into law the Equality Act, protecting the civil rights of LGBTQ+ Americans, and championing equal rights for all Americans. Happy Pride!

Ruling affords broader protection then the old ENDA for a number of reasons, but the Equality Act is still needed because today's SCOTUS ruling doesn't impact discrimination in public accommodations or housing

There will be an unsurprising number of people willing to wade into public spaces to say out loud, "I'm angry that the Supreme Court decided you can't fire people for being gay." They'll dress it up in layers of euphemism. But that's what they be saying Kavanaugh told @KamalaHarris in his confirmation hearing the days of anti-gay discrimination at SCOTUS are over.

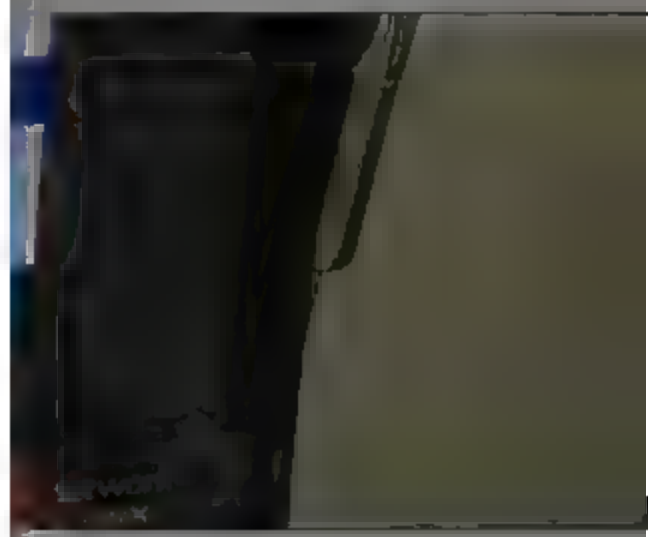
Now he has this dissent: "Our role is not to make or amend the law. As written, Title VII does not prohibit employment discrimination because of sexual orientation."



> The policy arguments for amending Title VII are very weighty. The Court has previously stated, and I fully agree, that gay and lesbian Americans "cannot be treated as social outcasts or as inferior in dignity and worth." Masterpiece Cakeshop, Ltd. v. Colorado Civil Rights Comm'n, 584 U. S. ___, ___ (2018) (slip op., at 9).
> But we are judges, not Members of Congress. And in Alexander Hamilton's words, federal judges exercise "neither Force nor Will, but merely judgment." The Federalist No. 78, p. 523 (J. Cooke ed. 1961). Under the Constitution's separation of powers, our role as judges is to interpret and follow the law as written, regardless of whether we like the result. Cf. Texas v. Johnson, 491 U. S. 397, 420–421 (1989) (Kennedy, J., concurring). Our role is not to make or amend the law. As written, Title VII does not prohibit employment discrimination because of sexual orientation.[1]

Today's DACA news is GREAT.

But remember, if Trump gets four more years, he will find a way to repeal DACA that passes judicial review -- and change the Courts to make sure they approve that hateful action.

We just did a survey of persuadables in the upper Midwest battlegrounds: soft Biden, soft Trump, and undecideds.

Trump's job approval among college-educated women: 36-64. His personal favorables: 27-66.

But there is still work we need to do, particularly on economy.

Agree with this. Cannabis legalization with a focus on equity and making up for past wrongs is a hugely consequential part of criminal justice reform. I'm not convinced Biden won't support it though - sounds like he's listening.

Cal Cunningham Raises $7.4 Million In Q2, "Breaks NC Fundraising Record"

RALEIGH, NC -- Cal Cunningham will report $7.4 million raised in the second quarter of 2020, the most ever raised by a Senate candidate in North Carolina in a single quarter. He will report $6.6 million on hand, and has raised nearly $15 million over the course of the campaign.

"Our campaign is so grateful to the thousands of North Carolinians lending their support to this campaign, showing that people across the state are ready to elect Cal and put this seat back to work to protect their health care and take on corruption in Washington," said Devan Barber, Campaign Manager for Cal for NC. "This record-breaking quarter follows poll after poll showing a close race, and the momentum is on our side with less than four months to election day."

So sad to see the Trump administration officially withdraw from @WHO in the middle of a deadly pandemic. Yes, WHO made mistakes; it has also helped coordinate responses not only to COVID but also to Ebola, maternal mortality, polio, leprosy, malaria and female genital mutilation.

The reason the recent Ebola outbreak in eastern Congo was suppressed was partly the work of WHO. Guinea worm, river blindness and leprosy are on the retreat partly because of WHO. If we eradicate polio, it'll be partly because of WHO. Viruses are the winners, humans the losers

Truly the best part of the story. A future president's best friends decline to speak about his teen drug use to a reporter, and the conclusion is that Obama inflated his stats for some future political benefit (???) and not that maybe they weren't totally forthcoming

The political trajectory may end up being similar ... but the outcomes have been felt MUCH deeper. This hasn't just been a carnival barker act - it has purposefully rallied some really sinister forces.

Amen. On everything from the economy to the death toll to infection rates, it's such a disservice to shorthand that "the virus did it." Other countries that took the response seriously are not seeing the devastation we are. This is the result of human behavior, not a microbe

Trump just said he "has the right" to unilaterally disenfranchise Americans citizens through an executive order that prevents voting by mail in the middle of a pandemic.

That's every bit as terrifying as his tweet about delaying the election, and should be treated as such.

I've known Senator @KamalaHarris for a long time. She is more than prepared for the job. She's spent her career defending our Constitution and fighting for folks who need a fair shake. This is a good day for our country. Now let's go win this thing.

Choosing a vice president is the first important decision a president makes. When you're in the Oval Office, weighing the toughest issues, and the choice you make will affect the lives and livelihoods of the entire country — you need someone with you who's got the judgment and the character to make the right call. Someone whose focus goes beyond self-interest to consider the lives and prospects of others.

Joe Biden nailed this decision. By choosing Senator Kamala Harris as America's next vice president, he's underscored his own judgment and character. Reality shows us that these attributes are not optional in a president. They're requirements of the job. And now Joe has an ideal partner to help him tackle the very real challenges America faces right now and in the years ahead.

I've known Senator Harris for a long time. She is more than prepared for the job. She's spent her career defending our Constitution and fighting for folks who need a fair shake. Her own life story is one that — and so many others can see ourselves in — a story that says that no matter where you come from, what you look like, how you worship, or who you love, there's a place for you here. It's a fundamentally American perspective, one that's led us out of the hardest times before. And it's a perspective we can all rally behind right now.

Michelle and I couldn't be more thrilled for Kamala, Doug, Cole, and Ella. This is a good day for our country. Now let's go win this thing.

Susan B. Anthony did not want to be pardoned. She was very pointed about this. Not until all women had full equality (which we still don't have).

She said instead she would "urge all women to... the old revolutionary maxim that 'Resistance to tyranny is obedience to God.'"

We're pretty far into the campaign, and the Trump operation remains confused on how to attack Biden. Is he an ineffectual creature of the Swamp who can't get anything done? A socialist revolutionary who could easily reshape America? vox.com/2020/8/25/2140 …

At times, Joe Biden was an ineffectual creature of Washington's permanent establishment "the Loch Ness monster of the swamp," as Donald Trump Jr. put it. "Joe Biden has made a career in Washington for 47 years promising things he's never delivered," said Scarise. But then the channel flipped, and Biden was a revolutionary force who could, in a few short years, reshape the country. "Joe Biden and Kamala Harris want a cultural revolution, a fundamentally different America," warned Sen. Tim Scott (R-SC). "If we let them, they will turn our country into a socialist utopia," though he meant utopia as a bad thing.

The Arizona polls have become quite bifurcated, with a group of polls showing a toss-up and another group showing Biden ahead by margins ranging from 7-10 with little in between. Not always an easy state to poll projects.fivethirtyeight.com/polls/presiden

There are also registered-voter versions of the the Fox News polls that show about the same results, with Biden +10 in AZ, +4 in NC, +8 in WI. Not great for Trump since he might hope to gain from the likely-voter screen. Loosely speaking, means no enthusiasm gap after the RNC.

A lot of attention on the Miami Dade poll today. Yes, several polls have demonstrated there is work to do, particularly with non-Cuban Hispanics in FL.

Couple of things to keep in mind. Every election is different, and this one is no different. Biden is doing far better with suburban whites and seniors, which is why in polls, he is leading in Florida, notwithstanding the softness with non-Cuban Hispanics. 2/

Steve Schale @steveschale · 5m

Our research shows that softness is as much a need to inform on the VP's message as anything. In our polling, almost 10% of non-Cuban Hispanics are undecided, and another 13% are with Trump but openly considering Biden. Biden's support is more solid. 3/

People totally misread the results of MN in 2016. MN had very high 3rd party voting.

It's a good thing. twitter.com/BenLaBolt/stat...

> In the world of the 79-year-old goddess of domesticity, cannabis, in its myriad forms, is a societal good. Her friend Snoop Dogg introduced her to its palliative effects at Comedy Central's 2015 "Roast of Justin Bieber."
> "We sat next to each other for seven hours," Ms. Stewart said. "Snoop must have smoked 10 giant fat blunts, and I inhaled all that smoke. I felt really good." She paused, searching for a more eloquent description of that feeling; it came from a male voice off-camera belonging to Ryan McCallister, her gardener and, since March, her "cinematographer emeritus" (i.e., her Zoom lighting guy)

I knew this sounded familiar. Schumer is saying word for word what McConnell said. twitter.com/mkraju/status/ …

> "The American people should have a voice in the selection of their next Supreme Court Justice. Therefore, this vacancy should not be filled until we have a new president," McConnell said, at a time when other elected officials, from Sen. Bernie Sanders to future Senate Democratic Leader Charles Schumer, were releasing statements offering condolences to the justice's family, which includes 26 grandchildren.

Biden: Nominee's 'place in history already secure'

By PENNY BENDER
Washington reporter

WASHINGTON The Senate Judiciary Committee showered Supreme Court nominee Ruth Bader Ginsburg with praise Tuesday as it began its most relaxed and peaceful confirmation hearing in several years.

Senators from both political parties applauded the former ACLU litigator for her work in the 1970s on several groundbreaking Supreme Court cases that extended equal rights to women. Several lawmakers noted that their own daughters were doctors and lawyers today because of those rulings.

"Judge Ginsburg, you come before the committee with your place in history already secure," said Judiciary Committee Chairman Joseph R. Biden Jr., D-Del. "You have already helped to

Given the massive fundraising by Dems over the weekend, this feels like a paltry sum. No reporter should presume or write that the right is more fired up about this court fight again -- the data belies it.

Trump will announce a nominee in the next few days by highlighting their biography and the highlights of their history on the bench, the latter of which will seek to motivate the right but maybe leave some hints about how they would rule on SCOTUS without saying it outright. 2/9

They may seek out a bipartisan figure to support the nominee to seem to make it harder for Ds to be against them. They'll leak a GOP poll saying their base is more fired up than Ds whether or not it's true – and $ and early public polls have suggested it's not true. 3/9

Normally there are months for Congress and the press to vet the candidate, everything they have ruled on and said. We had to answer for everything from a club that Sotomayor belonged to Republicans throwing a fit over her advocating for more diversity on the bench. 4/9

Congress and the press had tens of thousands of Kagan's emails to sort through from her time as a Clinton WH staffer. By rushing through this nominee and disregarding the traditional process, the Trump WH is trying to circumvent that vetting. 5/9

We shouldn't indulge them on any aspect of their morally bankrupt process. Not only did McConnell block Merrick Garland from even having a hearing, he didn't want to allow Obama a single legislative victory on any noteworthy issue at all, ever during his tenure. 6/9

Hey there, I hear you and obviously understand the importance of the seat. Here's my perspective. With 21 candidates in the race, no one is going to get 50% in November. There would have to be around 9 candidates who drop out. There might even be a runoff in the other Senate race

D.C. media is about to be like:

A big day of scandals for both candidates.

- TRUMP refused to promise a peaceful transfer of power, threatening the end to American democracy

- BIDEN only answered 3 reporters' questions on the tarmac

The assertion that it only counts when national reporters ask Qs of candidates is really tiresome. To win the presidency, you need to win battlegrounds. To win battlegrounds, you talk to the battleground press. Biden and Harris are doing it and it's resulting in great coverage!

We have been warned. Trump is planning a coup. He won't commit to a peaceful transfer of power. If the will of the people is that he is voted out and he won't go, we must plan now how to remove him from an office he seeks to hold illegally. Every legal means must be considered.

People are focused on how little Trump paid in taxes, but to me this is the bigger story. He was deeply in debt and looking for a way to reinvigorate his brand. So he ran for President. And he's been a walking conflict of interest ever since.

Stacey Abrams had $200,000 in loans and credit card debt. She was honest about it during her campaign and she pays her taxes.

Still, Republicans tried to shame her for it.

Those same Republicans now stay silent as it's revealed Trump committed tax fraud and owes $421 million.

Facts are facts and one is certain. America has been diminished and greatly weakened by the pretender president seeking the throne. The confident ones could see it from the moment he announced. The weak, powerless ones joined those seeking domination and fell into the abyss.

The reason Trump is losing women, independent voters, suburban voters is that they are exhausted by the chaos, the constant attacks and drama. He is leaning into all of that in this debate.

Every few moments, when Trump gets bored and stops interrupting for a second, Biden opens a wormhole to a parallel world where a normal presidential debate is taking place, with two candidates explaining their agendas in response to the moderator's questions.

It's nice.

In 47 months, Trump has become the first Pres since Hoover to lose jobs on his watch; presided over the death of 200,000 from COVID; seen 10 million lose their health coverage.

So, yeah, I guess he has done a bunch of stuff that Joe Biden didn't do when he was in office.

The problem with this is that eventually third party types could figure out a way to see through the sealed envelopes and discard. Usually third party ballot collectors aren't independent and have bias in one way or another

The West Wing is a lot smaller in real life than it appears on the TV shows. Narrow hallways. Meetings with people jammed on top of each other. It is the height of irresponsibility there was no mask mandate and even crazier there won't be one now.

Biden's 1st job will be to rebuild the moral authority of the presidency and to rebuild trust with Americans and the world about anything that is said out of the White House. There's nothing we can believe coming out of the White House right now. The bully pulpit is on fire

Statement for @SenSherrodBrown includes this: "I'm extremely troubled by the reports that the President's family and staff refused to wear masks at the debate in Cleveland, and then held a fundraiser the next day – endangering all who worked at and attended these events."

From Senator Sherrod Brown (D-OH):
"I wish the President, First Lady, and White House staffers a speedy recovery. I'm extremely troubled by the reports that the President's family and staff refused to wear masks at the debate in Cleveland, and then held a fundraiser the next day – endangering all who worked at and attended these events. The President has the best health care in the world, paid for by taxpayers. Hardworking Ohioans don't have access to the testing and resources he does because we're seven months in and still have no national testing strategy. I hope this might cause the President to rethink his lawsuit to repeal the ACA in the middle of a pandemic and take health care away from others who get this virus. The President has downplayed this virus for months, undermined scientists, shown he would rather focus on a Supreme Court power grab than a COVID relief package that includes worker protections, and refused to address this pandemic in a serious way. He owes it to the 200,000 Americans who have died because of his callousness to wear a mask and cancel his super-spreader rallies."

The chaos, the lies, the polarization - all of it undermines our national security every day.

As my friend @PaulRieckhoff says, "our enemies are celebrating" 😢

Biden's 1st job will be to rebuild the moral authority of the presidency and to rebuild trust with Americans and the world about anything that is said out of the White House. There's nothing we can believe coming out of the White House right now. The bully pulpit is on fire.

Really do wonder what Amy Coney Barrett is thinking, watching as it becomes clearer that her big unveiling likely led to a mass COVID spread at the top levels of government.

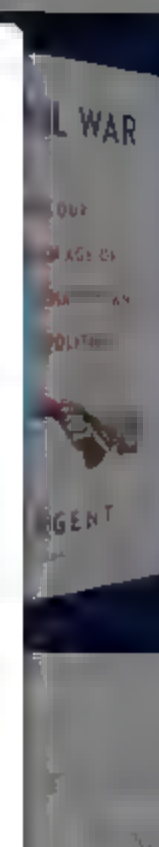
Big NBC scoop:



"Trump required personnel at Walter Reed to sign non-disclosure agreements last year before they could be involved with treating him, according to four people familiar with the process."

His trip there last year remains unexplained.

This is both inspiring and inexcusable. Voting is a right; exercising that right shouldn't be an obstacle course.

Andy Pierrotti @AndyPerrott

As of 11am, voters waited 5+ hours to cast ballots @ the main Cobb Co. early polling location (736 Whitlock Ave, Marietta). Some seemed unbothered by the line. "It doesn't matter how long it takes... we're voting like our life depends on it," said a voter

The punditry around the Democratic primary will go down as some of the most misleading, out-of-touch commentary in media history. NYT elevator vs. NYT ed board.

"Sexual preference," a term used by Justice Barrett, is offensive and outdated. The term implies sexuality is a choice. It is not. News organizations should not repeat Justice Barrett's words without providing that important context.

1/ I'm seeing headlines saying Trump "refused to condemn" QAnon at last night's @NBCNews town hall

But that's not exactly right.

Trump legitimized QAnon by saying he believes "very strongly" in one of its core tenets: fighting pedophilia

He knew exactly what he was doing

2/ First some background. QAnon grew out of Pizzagate in 2017.

QAnon adherents believe Trump is battling a global network of evil elites: Democrats, celebrities who worship Satan and sacrifice children.

Trump is their God (which Trump proudly pointed out back in August)

3/ Trump told @SavannahGuthrie "they are very strongly against pedophilia. And I agree with that."

Asked if there's a Satanic pedophile cult Trump said, "I have no idea."

Early voting in the 2020 has surpassed 21,000,000 people.

At this point in the 2016 election, 1,400,000 has cast their ballots.

This is what democracy looks like.

The Biden camp has to be pleased with how their candidate is closing tonight. Laid out the stakes. Listed Trump's moral outrages to his face. Talked about what can change: responsible pandemic response, better health care, humane immigration, restore our alliances. This is it.

Shift in tone dominates at final Trump-Biden clash

President Trump and Democratic nominee Joe Biden on Thursday clashed for a final time before Election Day, exchanging blows on the public health and economic crises facing the country in what was a decidedly more orderly – though still at times personal – contest than the first debate.

Trump showed more discipline as the debate opened, adopting a muted tone as he fielded questions on the coronavirus

NEWS: Trump campaign/NV GOP have sued to stop mail ballot counting in Clark County until they get what they want -- you know, so they can intimidate workers and voters.

Dems have a 70K-mail-ballot lead in Clark, but I am sure that is a coincidence.

This lawsuit was inevitable, of course, after Trump and his mouthpieces here have raised questions about mail voting, which the Dems are using to bank tens of thousands of votes in Nevada. They will do whatever it takes, it seems.

Amazing to see Texas's turnout soar now that it's a presidential swing state.

Here's an idea... what if we made the votes of people in every state matter for the presidential race?

We've always known Team Trump couldn't lead a one car parade. Their incompetence has killed hundreds of thousands due to COVID and kept the leadership in Beijing and Moscow quite pleased with our diminished global standing. It just keeps coming

> Ashley Parker @AshleyRParker
> Trump said he could shoot people on 5th Avenue and still not lose votes. The non-hypothetical Q is: Can he allow his supporters to end up in the hospital w/ hyperthermia after his team bungled post-rally transportation, and still not lose votes?

The look on Perdue's face here is reminiscent of the collapse of the GOP majorities in 2006/08. A whole generation of congressional officeholders had grown used to never being questioned abt flagrant corruption. They were flummoxed and unprepared when it arrived at high speed.

"Now let's talk about this election. I admit I have not been following it. To do so would be masochistic. I do not have a television. I am not on social media. I only know the candidates indirectly and what I have read on Wikipedia."

Ben LaBolt @BenLaBolt 8 Min.

"Now let us talk about Democrats. According to Wikipedia, around 1860, the Dem party was formed to support limited government and state sovereignty while opposing a national bank and high tariffs. Well none of that happened. I guess they are not very good at getting things done."

Ben LaBolt @BenLaBolt 8 Min.

"Welfare enslaves people and the biofuels and clean energy never happened. They probably would happen if the government would just get out of the way. And if the Republicans put businesses before America, the Democrats put politics before America."

ATE HOUSE

Final State Legislature Rating Change: Texas House Moves to Toss Up

We had intended our previous handicapping of the state legislatures on Oct. 28 to be our last one of the cycle. But then Texas voters came out to vote. And vote. And vote. And now, just five days later, we have one adjustment to make. We're moving the Texas House from Lean Republican to Toss Up.

🚨🚨🚨First-time (FT) Latino voters are coming out in HUGE numbers through early voting. Our look at the voter file for 2020 early & absentee ballots cast:

Estimates showing about 2.4 million of the 8.6 million Latino early votes are first-time/newly registered voters, that's over one-in-four!

From EV data at the state level:
TX: 500,000 first time (FT) Latino voters
FL: 360,000+ FT Latino voters
AZ: 110,000+ FT Latino voters
NC: 50,000+ FT Latino voters

One county I was pointed to months ago in NORTH CAROLINA is New Hanover, along the coast, attracting lots of recent transplants.

Trump carried it +4 in '16.
Biden now leading +5 w/80% in.

A 9-point swing.

Yes, this is right. In the dozen or so rural PA counties that are all in Biden is slightly overperforming Clinton. And we'd expect more swing in the burbs.

> Matthew Yglesias @mattyglesias

Dem margin in Dane County has already equaled Clinton's margin of 147,000 votes and Dane is still only at 85% of 2016 total vote, so a fair way to go. as suspected, it will deliver in a very big way for Biden.
